

Placing People First

Bulletin-June 2018

As winter sets in maybe you are also experiencing seasonal changes in your business. Perhaps too many staff heading for the Northern Summer, pregnancy leave, 'flu' leave or production and sales fluctuations, new projects etc that require flexible staffing options. These are some of the many reasons for considering 'on-hire staff' as an effective means for managing these issues. Regularly our on-hire staff both ameliorate shorter term demands and become so valued that they transition to permanent employment. It is a Win/Win for both parties.

If you think you have a need for temporary or on-hire staff, from the production coalface to Senior Management and would like to find out more, feel free to contact one of our consultants regarding the candidates featured on this bulletin and many more on our database.
